CACUBO Business Policies and Procedures Manual Forward

CACUBO has vested in the Treasurer of the Association, the chief financial officer of the organization, the responsibility for overseeing all financial functions of the organization. The Treasurer may delegate certain functions to recognized committees, task forces, and individuals to more effectively carry out Association programs.

Because of its delegation and decentralization, CACUBO recognizes the need for a Business Policies & Procedures Manual. This manual is intended (1) to serve as an authoritative source on the Associations fiscal policies and procedures and (2) to provide guidance to all persons serving in financial positions within the organization.

Persons accepting CACUBO appointments that include financial responsibilities are expected to follow the guidelines contained in this manual. This will promote consistency, continuity and compliance with regulatory standards (i.e., I.R.S. reporting, state tax exemptions, etc.).

The Treasurer or Controller will disburse copies of this manual as needed. Future Business and Finance Committees have the responsibility for developing, implementing and documenting current and future Association business policies and procedures. The work of this committee, along with the work of the Audit Committee, is intended to guide the Association's financial activities.

SECTION A - General Policies

Contracts

All contracts covering current and future Association commitments are kept on file with the Secretary and Treasurer. This includes contracts for insurance coverage, for hotels covering future CACUBO events, for maintenance of the database, for solicitation of vendors and sponsors for the Annual Meeting, etc. We recommend the use of a contract or letter of understanding when engaging individuals or vendors for services. Contract templates may be obtained from the CACUBO Controller or from the CACUBO website.

The President of the Association is the individual having specific contractual authority. The President may provide express written delegation of contractual authority to professional development committees for specific activities. The Business and Finance Committee is responsible for annually reviewing all continuing contracts.

Taxes

The Treasurer has ultimate responsibility for all tax matters including the preparation and filing of an annual form 990 as a not-for-profit corporation. The Treasurer or his/her designee is also responsible for issuing all required 1096 and 1099 statement of payments to independent contractors. Professional development committees who have their own bank accounts will be required to report this information to the Treasurer by January 10. Committees needing tax exemption certificates should contact the Treasurer.

Sales Tax Exemptions

Committee Treasurers should contact the CACUBO Controller for information about current sales tax exemptions. If CACUBO does not have a sales tax exemption in a state where a professional development program is to be held, the CACUBO Treasurer shall research whether CACUBO may qualify for exemption and, if so, apply for the sales tax exemption. Current sales tax exemption certificates are posted on the CACUBO website.

Insurance

Insurance covering the activities of the Association is usually secured through NACUBO. Basic liability coverage, as well as a general umbrella package, is provided. Committee members should contact the CACUBO Treasurer for any necessary certificates of insurance.

Records Retention

Financial records are established and maintained to provide (1) information to members regarding CACUBO activities, (2) information to CACUBO program managers regarding programs for which they are responsible, (3) information to CACUBO officers for review, planning, management and budgeting, (4) documentation for review by internal and external auditors and (5) compliance with statutes and/or regulations. Refer to Attachment (C) of this Manual for specific record retention guidelines. The Treasurer will also periodically review and recommend to the Board of Directors revisions to this policy.

Training

Formal new committee training will be conducted annually. All outgoing chairs are responsible to train incoming chairs to the extent necessary.

Vendor and Sponsor fees

The Association may contract with private firms to solicit advertising space and to promote sponsorship opportunities as a part of its activities. These contracts may allow the firm to collect monies from vendors and sponsors on behalf of the Association, including the payment of registration fees for company representatives. Firms providing this service are responsible for collecting such monies and for remitting to the appropriate professional development committee in a timely manner. Firms are responsible for providing a full reconciliation of all activities to individual professional development committees or to the Treasurer as directed.

Receipts

The revenues of the Association consist of dues, registration fees, vendor and sponsor fees, investment income and other miscellaneous income. Dues are paid by Association members directly or are forwarded from NACUBO (National Association of College and University Business Officers) to the Treasurer. The schedule of annual dues is established by the Association membership at the Annual Meeting. Registration fees may be collected by individual professional development committees (professional development committees are defined as being those CACUBO members who have agreed to develop and produce a professional development program such as the Annual Meeting, the Winter Workshop, the Higher Education Accounting Workshop, etc.). Professional development committees are responsible for the accounting, reporting and remitting of all registration monies to the Treasurer. Registration fees maybe collected by a firm with whom the Association contracts to collect such funds. Vendor/sponsor fees may be collected by the professional development committees or by firms with whom the Association contracts to collect such funds (see Vendor and Sponsor Section). Investment income is generated through investments made by the Treasurer. The Treasurer is responsible for accounting/reporting all revenues to the Board of Directors and to the Association at the Annual Meeting.

Expenditures

Committee chairpersons and members have a stewardship responsibility for association funds. CACUBO is accountable to the member colleges and universities to use their funds properly and effectively. When arranging CACUBO meetings and functions consideration should be given to choosing a site which minimizes travel costs and assures that the cost for all CACUBO functions, including meal and other costs, are reasonable and appropriate.

Expenditures of the Association generally include those items necessary to carry out professional development activities for the membership, such as the Annual Meeting, the Winter Workshop, the Higher Education Accounting Workshop, The Leadership Development Institute, as well as related expenses associated with the various CACUBO working committees. The Treasurer, Controller, and professional development committees that have received approval have authority to disburse CACUBO funds. Original documentation for all disbursements is required to be submitted to the Treasurer or Controller with the standard expense reimbursement form.

Bulk rate mailing permits

Committees should ensure that not for profit mail rates are used whenever possible. Contact the CACUBO Treasurer for assistance.

SECTION B - Budgets and Planning

Budget Process

SECTION D - Information for Committee Treasurers

Chart of accounts

A standardized chart of accounts has been established to enhance the accounting and reporting of financial activity.

Checking accounts

The Treasurer manages the primary CACUBO checking account. With prior approval from the Board, there may be other checking accounts provided to professional development committees controlled by the Treasurer. These accounts will reside at the same location as the master CACUBO checking account.

All checking accounts require approval of the Board of Directors. The individual professional development committee treasurers are expected to conduct the business of the professional development committees and be responsible to the Treasurer for timely financial reporting and reconciliation of all accounts.

1. All checking accounts are in the Association's name and must carry the Association's federal identification number (FEIN 73-1079052).
2. The financial institution must be able to provide copies of canceled checks and deposit slips as required.
3. Professional development committee checking accounts are to be reconciled and reported to the Controller on a quarterly basis. Monthly bank statements will be sent by the bank to the Controller and to the professional development committee treasurer. The Professional development committee treasurer is responsible for reconciling the account and mailing a copy of the reconciliation including a list of outstanding checks to the Controller at the end of each quarter.
4. Professional development committees may be given the authority to disburse funds as appropriate in conducting the business of the Association. However, the CACUBO Treasurer and Controller will be named as individuals with signature authority to disburse CACUBO funds from professional development committee checking accounts. Professional development committees are responsible for notifying the Treasurer or Controller when activity for the program year is concluded.
5. The Treasurer and Controller have authority to disburse funds from the master CACUBO checking account as appropriate to conduct Association business. The President and Secretary also have signature authority on the master checking account.
6. Professional development committee treasurers are expected to deposit receipts into their account immediately by mailing the deposit directly to the bank. In those cases when cash is received by the professional development committee, the Treasurer has the option of remitting by wire transfer, money order, or cashier's check.
7. For expenses greater than $5000, the Committee Treasurer should obtain approval (preferably by email) from any one of the following parties, in this order: Committee Chair, CACUBO Controller, or CACUBO Treasurer.

Cash advances

The professional development committee treasurers managing their own checking accounts will be responsible for notifying the Treasurer or Controller when their account balance is insufficient to meet operating needs. The Controller will be responsible for transferring an appropriate amount to the professional development committee bank account upon approval by the Treasurer of the Association. The cash advance must be specifically requested in writing by the committee and approval and acceptance must be fully documented. All advances must be returned to the Controller as soon as possible. If an advance is returned as part of the close out process for a professional development activity, the return of the advance must be clearly identified.

Registration policies and procedures

One responsibility of the individual professional development committees is to recommend program registration fees to the Board of Directors. The membership registration fee for the Winter Workshop and the Higher Education Accounting Workshop should be established at a competitive level to encourage attendance. Expense budgets should be carefully constructed to assure a quality program and to break even (i.e. meeting all direct program expense). Professional development committees are charged with establishing adequate safeguards to protect the monetary assets of the Association. This includes the establishment of adequate internal controls. Professional development committees are responsible for the safeguarding of all funds in their possession, the reconciling of activities to actual monies collected and the reporting of all activity to the Treasurer.

Reporting Requirements

1. Reports to Controller - Professional development committees are required to submit financial reports to the Controller on a regular basis in a format specified by the CACUBO Controller. The Controller uses this financial data to prepare financial reports to the Board of Directors. Report 1096 and 1099 information to the Treasurer by January 10 of each year.
2. Reports to the Board –
 - The Treasurer is required to submit a financial report to the Board of Directors at each meeting. In addition, the Treasurer is to provide a report on investments.
 - The Board liaison for each committee is required to provide an update at all Board meetings.
 - Professional Development Committees should submit final reports to the Board within 90 days of their event.
3. Reports to membership - The Treasurer is required to submit an annual financial report to the membership at the Annual Meeting. SECTION E - Annual Dues

Annual dues

The amount of annual dues is determined by the membership at the Annual Meeting. Payment of dues is normally through NACUBO but may be paid directly to the Treasurer or Controller. The Secretary and the Treasurer are responsible for tracking the payment of membership dues.

Types of Memberships

REGULAR: Degree-granting institutions of higher education and organizations determined to be primarily related to higher education.

ASSOCIATE: Non-profit organizations having interests closely related to higher education or to the profession of business management in education.

PROVISIONAL: Institutions which have attained a pre-accreditable status.

RETIREE: Individuals who were previously CACUBO members through their institution's or organization's membership in CACUBO.

SECTION F - Board Designated Funds

Board Designated Fund/Quasi Endowment

A goal of the Association is to establish a quasi endowment fund for professional development opportunities. The purpose of this fund is to provide a source of revenue to support new membership services and new professional development initiatives. The initial goal of the quasi endowment fund is $500,000. Future financial plans for the Association may include an annual contribution to this fund until the $500,000 goal is attained. The revenues generated each year from investments of principal are to be (1) used as approved by the Board of Directors on new membership services and professional development initiatives or (2) used as part of the annual contribution in building the quasi endowment fund.

Professional Development Reserve

The CACUBO Board of Directors has directed that a balance sheet reserve should be established to protect against potential revenue shortfalls. The amount of the reserve should be reviewed periodically. The initial reserve should be established at 20% of the combined annual expense budgets of the Leadership Development Institute, Winter Workshop and the Higher Education Accounting Workshop.

SECTION G - Investment Policy

This investment policy is intended to cover the management of all financial assets from operating cash to endowment and quasi-endowment funds. The guiding principle is the prudent management of risk and reward consistent with the intended use of the particular funds.

Objectives

The objectives of the policy are twofold:

1. Preservation of principal

- Liquidity – the investment portfolio should be constructed in a manner that ensures cash availability when needed without resorting to the conversion of an investment at a loss.
- Prudent management of risk – CACUBO has a fiduciary responsibility to its membership to invest the funds in a manner consistent with that expected of a prudent investor. Investments should be generally recognized as high quality. Investments of a speculative nature should be avoided.
- Preservation of Purchasing power – the portfolio of longer-term investments should be constructed with a reasonable expectation that the re-investment of all or part of the earnings, when added to the market value of the securities, will result in no erosion of principal resulting from inflation. Decisions to expend any of the earnings, including capital gains, should be made in light of this objective.

2. Maximization of Earnings – when undertaken in light of the first objective, maximization of earnings is essential in order to provide to the membership services of the highest quality at the lowest possible cost. To the extent possible, earnings should be compared to the appropriate benchmarks, the objective being to exceed or at least equal the benchmark.

Responsibility

The Board of Directors is ultimately responsible for seeing to it that this policy is administered properly. The Treasurer, as an officer of the Board, is granted the authority to administer the day-to-day investment activities and results, and shall be responsible to report periodically to the Board. The Treasurer may delegate all or part of this authority to the Controller, and is expected to seek the advice and counsel of the Business and Finance Committee where appropriate.

Other stipulations

The Board shall approve asset allocation strategies as recommended by the Business and Finance Committee. The portfolio should be re-balanced annually or as necessary.

Gains/Losses

It shall be permissible for Association's Treasurer to realize gains and losses in the portfolio if such an action would be consistent with the Association's investment goals. All sales at a loss to the Association should have the approval of the President. Realized and unrealized gains and losses should be accurately reflected in the accounting records.

Investment Report

The Treasurer is to provide an investment report to the Board of Directors at each meeting. Expected cash needs for the next twelve months, investment plans for the next twelve months, expected return on investments and other items as requested by the Board of Directors should be included in this report. The Treasurer is to provide an investment report at the Annual Meeting.

SECTION H - Audit Requirements

Audit Requirements

The Audit Committee has responsibility for auditing the financial records of the Association.

This committee has the authority to request such records necessary to conduct the audit. The audit program generally followed is outlined below.

The following documents should be available:

- Board of Directors minutes for the year being audited

Audit assignments are made by the Chairperson of the Audit Committee. Assignments are generally rotated to provide each member of the Audit Committee the opportunity to become familiar with the overall financial operation of the association.

The record review will consist of an on-site audit. The CACUBO Controller is charged with the responsibility of maintaining the central CACUBO financial operations and records and for preparing a consolidated financial report on all of the CACUBO programs. Because CACUBO has assigned responsibility for maintaining the financial records for its various programs to the respective Committee Chairs, the Controller is not accountable for the integrity of those records. However, the Controller is designated as the custodian of all CACUBO financial records and is accordingly responsible to facilitate the transfer of all records to the site of the Controller.

The audit committee member(s) assigned responsibility for auditing a specific program will request appropriate records from the Controller. An audit will be performed by the individual committee member(s) and an audit report will be forwarded to the Audit Committee Chair.

The Audit Committee Chair will consolidate the individual audit reports into a draft management letter prior to arranging for the on-site review of the central CACUBO records. The on-site audit will include a review of the central CACUBO operations and records, a review of the integration and consolidation of the individual programs into the consolidated report and a review of the consolidated financial report.

The Audit Committee Chair will be responsible for providing a management letter that incorporates the results of the on-site review of the central records.
